

LISTING EVENTS IN SOUNDS GREAT

LISTING POLICY AND EVENT DETAILS FOR LISTING

We list live classical music and opera performances fully open to the public.

As a rough guideline, we do not regard the following as classical music: carols, musicals, Gilbert and Sullivan, World Music, popular music, film music, or jazz. If in doubt, please consult the editor.

To list your event we need the following details:

Programme: Date, time, venue, and full details of programme and performers, including soloists. (We don't guarantee to include all details but will carry as many as space allows).

Tickets: A box office phone number is required (and an email address or website, if available), and ticket prices.

Format: We prefer emailed text that we can cut and paste (it saves time and reduces the chance of error). If you can't do that, we will work from printed material. The only source we cannot accept is websites, simply because we can't afford the time to trawl through large numbers of websites picking up event information.

PUBLICATION SCHEDULE AND DEADLINE DATES

Please get details of your events to us as early as possible.

Our Email Edition, growing in popularity, lists all events recorded in our database, so the earlier you give the information to us the earlier people will know about it.

Deadlines for listing information to reach us are:

EDITORIAL COPY

We do not carry additional text in the listings section of the magazine, but there is one page in each issue for editorial comment.

Tell us about any special reasons we can give our subscribers why they should attend your event. The more interesting the copy you can give us, the greater is your chance of getting some free editorial publicity in addition to your listing.
